SARATOGA LID IS LIFTED AND CANFIELD OPEN

Running Quietly, but the Little Ball Is Spinning Just the Same.

A FEW RESTRICTIONS.

Women Are Not Permitted to Watch the Play as of Yore.

BY IRVIN S. COBB. (Special to The Evening World.) BARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 6.—It is a chastened, ecclesiastical Canfield's that opened up for the racing season. e will be gaming here this month, but it won't be the wide-open, comehich the Spa has learned to know and to love in the past.

It is predicted that less money will over the tables and more in the betting ring than in any year since the Indians first discovered that the mineral waters of these hills had in them certain potent properties which converted adolescent pikers into full-feathered

It was pressure by the local populate which forced the lid up after Senator Brackett hal clamped it on, but out of graphot to also Benster's Gubernatorial shall not be kicked entirely off the skil-let. Canfield's is to be run with the front door closed-something that was never done before.

His gambling room with its famous flowered carpet and his dining-room with its domed ceiling and cathedral findows are not to be thrown together heretofore, and the women at the tables will be deprived of the treat of seeing their men friends buck-ing faro and the wheel.

ere is sure to be more or less seri grumbling over this. Canfield opened up Saturday night, but there were few leaves stirring. There were more attes dants than there were players, and y 12 o'clock the last truant white chip sought the home-nest.

LOST CHARLIE ROSS IN TEXAS, HE SAYS

Likens Says He Saw Man Who Was Stolen and Knows His Identity.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Aug. 8 .- Jos seph L. Likens, a carpenter, who says he came here from Galveston, Tex., declares he has recently seen and talked with Charlie Ross, who was stolen from Germantown, July 1, 1874.

According to Likens, he met William Von Hodge, thirty-sever years old, who is of unknowns parentage and lives in comfortable circumstances at Thirty: ninth and H streets, Galveston,

The meeting grew out of a letter which Mr. Likens sent to Mr. Von Hodge, stating that he thought he could give him valuable information concerning his parents. Neither had seen the other before, but, according to Mr. Likens, he knew Von I, dge immedi-He promptly told the stranger that he was positive he was the long-missing Charlie Ross. - ikens says he communicated details proving this, but which he will not now give out.

Mr. Von Hodge, armed with what seemed to him to be substantial proofs of his identity as "Cha e," went to Philadelphia and paid s visit to the old Ross homestead, but the attempt to convince Mrs. Ross that this was 'Charite' was not successful.

Mr. Likens says that when Charita Ross was stolen he was hidden in a coal chute under the pavement fronting a house then owned and occupied by a man now living in New J very, and that he would tell the time and place and tirturalances were it not for the and directors are so were it not for the fear that it would be denied by the house owner and thus leave Mr. Lkens in danger of explaining how he knew it. He says Charle Ross was taken from there to Trenton and the to an asylum at New Orleans.

When asked about Douglas the burger who, with Mosher, stole tha boy, and was killed soon after. Mr. Likens denied ever knowing him or using that name himself in any of his travels over the country, although he did admit that because of his employment at the time of the abduction, he did know of some of the associates of Douglas and Mosher and of the life they led.
